Limpe Fuchs - Pressetext (deutsch)

Limpe Fuchs ist eine Legende der experimentellen Musikszene. Ende der 60er Jahre trommelte die Schlagwerkerin mit ihrem Ex-Ehemann Paul Fuchs im Ensemble Anima auf selbstgebauten Instrumenten, kooperierten dabei mit Klassikpianostar Friedrich Gulda und Jazzgrößen wie Albert Mangelsdorff, um danach in neuen Konstellationen immer wieder aufhorchen zu lassen. Ihre Solo-Performance mit "variablen Holz - und Steinreihen, klingender Bronze in den Pendelsaiten, und einer Vielfalt von Fell- und Bronzetrommeln" ist eine rare Gelegenheit, einer der frühen Avantgardistinnen der bundesrepublikanischen Szene zu begegnen, die bei ihren Auftritten versucht, aus der "Resonanz des Aufführungsortes" ihre musikalischen Ideen zu entwickeln, also "Musik zu machen im Zeitfluss, mit Einfachheit und Emotion"!

Pianobody 2002

If you are interested in crossing borders, this one will surely fascinate you." (Vital Weekly)

Limpe Fuchs Album „Pianobody 2002“, dass von ihr komplett solo eingespielt wurde, ist ihr wohl stärkstes Statement für eine musikalische Freiheit. Ohne sich in eine Kategorie zwängen zu lassen, bewegt Limpe Fuchs sich auf ungewöhnliche Weise zwischen undurchsichtigen Harmonien und klaren Rhythmen, kombiniert rohe Klavierpassagen mit Feldaufnahmen, manipulierten Ringmodulatoren und den Klang rollender Metallscheiben. „Pianobody 2002“ ist unaufdringliche Faszination, pure Klang-Ästhetik, einzigartig und mit tiefem Ernst, jedoch dabei nicht ohne augenzwinkernden Humor vorgetragen.

„It's almost like a soundtrack for a fairy tale, the most evident example of sensitiveness by an often overlooked artist who, in this particular instance, has given birth to what's likely to become an obscure masterpiece.“ (Massimo Ricci / Touching Extremes)

Vogel Musik

„Vogel Musik is the sort of album you prepare for listening to instead of being in the mood for.“ (John Kealy/Brainwashed)

Das Konzeptalbum „Vogel Musik“ vereint sieben Improvisationen, die Limpe Fuchs gemeinsam mit Multiinstrumentalist Christoph Reiserer und Pianistin Julia Schoelzel, live aufgenommen hat. Vom Huhn, zum Hahn, zur Landschaft mit Vogel reichen die Themen. Klingen mag das gewöhnlich, bisweilen auch albern, wer aber Musikvisionärin Limpe Fuchs kennt, weiß, dass ihn ein musikalisches Erlebnis erwartet. Limpe Fuchs schafft es, mit selbstgebauten Instrumenten, ihrer Violine und ihrer Stimme eine Atmosphäre entstehen zu lassen, die nicht von dieser Welt zu kommen scheint. Mit „Vogel Musik“ ist ein Album entstanden, dass reich an Details und (ungewöhnlichen) Strukturen ist und mit jedem Auflegen etwas Neues zu bieten hat.

“Vogel Musik takes flight with a fresh set of utterly unique pieces from a true musical visionary.“ (Robotrecords)

play loud! productions wird in enger Zusammenarbeit mit der Künstlerin Limpe Fuchs nach und nach ihr komplettes Archiv wiederveröffentlichen. Einige Aufnahmen und Filme werden erstmalig überhaupt veröffentlicht. Und es wird viel aufregendes neues Material erscheinen. Wir möchten explizit darauf hinweisen, dass es bis zum heutigen Tag sehr viele Anima/Limpe Fuchs-Veröffentlichungen gibt, die ohne Einwilligung der Künstler entstanden sind.

Limpe Fuchs - press release (English)

Limpe Fuchs is a legend in the experimental music scene. In the late sixties, this percussionist drummed on self-made instruments, together with her then husband Paul Fuchs, in the Ensemble Anima. During that time, Limpe and Paul Fuchs cooperated with the classic pianist star Friedrich Gulda, as well as with jazz luminaries like Albert Mangelsdorff, and continually attracted the interest of their audiences in new constellations. Limpe Fuchs' solo performance with "variable wood and stone rows, ringing bronze in the pendulum strings, and a variety of skin and bronze drums" is a rare occasion to witness one of the early avant-gardists of the scene from the old Federal Republic Of Germany. She attempts, while playing live, to develop her musical ideas from the "resonance of the location where the performance takes place" - "to make music in the flow of time, with simplicity and emotion"! Her main concern is to sensitize the process of hearing: "Every tone is a sensation. Listening instead of shutting one's ears. Establishing silence."

Pianobody 2002

"If you are interested in crossing borders, this one will surely fascinate you." (Vital Weekly)

The Limpe Fuchs album "Pianobody 2002" was recorded completely by herself. That alone, stands for total musical freedom. Limpe Fuchs does not care about categories. Her music moves in an unusual way between opaque harmonies and clear rhythms, she combines unprocessed piano passages with field recordings, manipulated ring modulators and the sound of rolling metal discs. "Pianobody 2002" is unobtrusive fascination, pure sound aesthetic, unique and with deep seriousness, however, with a huge sense of Bavarian humor.

„It's almost like a soundtrack for a fairy tale, the most evident example of sensitiveness by an often overlooked artist who, in this particular instance, has given birth to what's likely to become an obscure masterpiece.“ (Massimo Ricci / Touching Extremes)

Vogel Musik

„Vogel Musik is the sort of album you prepare for listening to instead of being in the mood for.“ (John Kealy/Brainwashed)

The concept album "Bird Music (Vogel Musik)" is a collection of seven live improvisations, which Limpe Fuchs recorded with multi-instrumentalist Christoph Reiserer and pianist Julia Schoelzel. The song titles might sound childish and at times a bit silly but listeners familiar with music visionary Limpe Fuchs know that around the corner he will have to cope with a deep musical experience. With homemade instruments, plus her violin and her voice, Limpe Fuchs creates an atmosphere that does not seem to come out of this world. "Bird Music" is an album rich in details and (unusual) structures and has to offer something new each time you play the record.

play loud! productions in conjunction with the artist Limpe Fuchs will release her complete archive/back catalogue. Some recordings and films will be released for the first time ever. Also there will be many exciting new recordings. We explicitly would like to point to the fact that up to this day many of the Anima/Limpe Fuchs releases have been made without the permission by the artists.

Limpe Fuchs: In Conversation with Lucía Palacios & Dietmar Post as part of the "play loud! (live) word series".

Limpe Fuchs: DVD with interviews, old super 8 and 16 mm films, live concerts, home recordings, many photographs and other oddities.

Furthermore play loud! is trying to restore old experimental films from, by and with Limpe and Paul Fuchs. Over the last decade filmmakers Dietmar Post and Lucía Palacios occasionally have accompanied Limpe with their camera. Some of Limpe's outstanding performances will also be part of the "play loud! (live) music series".

play loud! is asking fans and users of our archive & store to support this wonderful project. The goal is to preserve Limpe's work for future generations.

Please write us an email with suggestions to info@playloud.org.

The creation of the LIMPE FUCHS ARCHIVE has been made possible through the help by Jörg Fukking, Tobias Frindt, Tammy Schwarz and many other supporters. Thank you.

play loud! (live) music & word series

Concept behind the play loud! (live) music & word series play loud! is not only a music label or film production company. play loud!'s goal is also to preserve and archive certain moments in history.

The "play loud! (live) music series" has been initiated by filmmakers Dietmar Post & Lucía Palacios (responsible for monks – the transatlantic feedback, Reverend Billy, Klangbad, Franco's Settlers). The series parts from three ideas, Alan Lomax's work as an archivist and chronicler, John Peel's BBC radio sessions and the work of Direct Cinema pioneers, such as, Maysles Brothers, Leacock, Wildenhahn and Pennebaker. Filming live shows meant not to do it in a TV style but in a very personal, intuitive and adventurous style – nothing is staged for filming. You go along as it happens. Some of the live performances are filmed with only one camera in one continuous shot without any edits. Some critics have labeled it as "filmed paintings/painted films".

play loud!'s music films have been called: "raw", "rough", "canny", "straightforward", "adventurous", "witty", "insightful", "direct", "non-tricksy", "economic", "minimal", "unpretentious handheld camera work", "artful film paintings" ...

play loud!'s intention is to furthermore create an extensive archive of interesting popular music that includes also the possibility to screen/stream material that comes from other sources.
